

FRANCK SOKORA

- My style

I plan and organize everything I need to do beforehand and focus on them during working time.
I freely include new or unplanned tasks in my working schedule and make sure all gets done.
I work one step at a time in an efficient and effective ways.

- What I value

I value proactivity, organization skill, time management, focus and creativity and I expect my teammates to be creative as well as being efficient in what they do.
I value the spirit of communication and commitments in accomplishing goals.
I also believe that the happiness of teammates and the environment in which we learn and work impacts productivity.

- What I don't have patience for

I dislike laziness in the work and distractions during work whether individually or as a team.
Someone is most likely to lose my trust when mistreating or disrespecting teammates.

- How best to communicate with me

I love to communicate with everyone and opened to any suggestion as we try to solve problems.
I love when reproaches are made in a gentle and constructive way.

- How to help me

I am usually an introvert person in the outside but have so much confidence in my abilities and skills and engaged in whatever I start.
I am creative and I love challenges and solving problems.
Meanwhile, I am kind of reserved when I don't know people around me but immediately after one team project, I can give the best of my abilities.
I am actively working on it and strongly believe that this can come earlier as I am introduced in a warmed and welcoming group.

- What people misunderstand about me

People usually believe that I am shy and not talkative which is not true.
Like I said earlier, I am very talkative, confident and engaged in what I start.
I am a friendly person and enjoy working as a team to solve problems.

My experiences have shown that I have always been an essential element in teams increasing team productivity by 15%

Health

I am healthy, I go to the gym twice a week; I eat pretty good food, I have a good diet. Going to the gym helps me relieve stress.

Work

I have a Job. I am doing it with my whole heart and perform everything I must do. I am doing well. I made some friends with whom I enjoy working with strategy.

Play

I love to play soccer. I practice every Friday evening.

Love Dashboard

I have a girlfriend; we are from the same country and enjoy going out together.

- Workview and Lifeview Compass
 - Value Statement

I believe that life needs to be centered on The Gospel of Jesus Christ then everything will fall under proper places. I also believe that when we go out, we should act as everything in this world and concerning our life and well-being depend on us but when we go home we should pray in a way that everything depends of God.

- Good Time Journal Entries
 - 10 entries (Past or Present)

I am not taking note of my everyday life through a journal, but I will start doing it from now.

- 3 Mind Maps
 - Engagement, Energy, Flow

I am engaged in all that I do. I find energy in my family and loved one and I am pretty in the middle between introvert and extrovert.
